

Young Willing to Quit C&O for Foothold in New York Central

By Donald B. Hadley
Robert R. Young, chairman of the board of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway and the Alleghany Corp., will be willing to resign from those positions, if necessary, to gain representation on the board of the New York Central Railroad, which he hopes eventually to merge with the C&O.

Mr. Young expressed himself here yesterday at the fifth anniversary of the Federation of Railway Progress, of which he also is chairman. He said action could not be taken in time for the next annual meeting of the Central in May but would have to wait until the 1953 meeting.

However, he said, if it became necessary for himself to stand for election to the Central board, he had assurance of the support from 90 per cent of the stock of the Central. He saw the possibility that the Interstate Commerce Commission might still object to his going on the Central board if he left the C. & O. and Alleghany in "friendly hands," but he added: "If we can't get friends on the Central board, Bob Young will have to get there himself."

Comments on Press Report.
Commenting on an Associated Press report quoting Henry Crown of New York, new board chairman of the Empire State Building, that he has "indicated no interest" in Mr. Young's struggle for a voice in the New York Central management, Mr. Young said he was afraid that Mr. Crown had yielded to pressure. He declared that less than 48 hours before, Mr. Crown had indicated he was interested.

A New York paper earlier reported that Mr. Crown headed a group that would be Mr. Young's allies in the fight for representation on the Central board. Mr. Young has been seeking representation on the Central since the C. & O. purchased some 400,000 shares or about 6 per cent, of the Central's stock. The ICC objected because Mr. Young was an official of the C. & O. and Alleghany.

The New York paper quoted sources "close to Mr. Young" that four other unnamed "friendly interests" are prepared to swing a million-share purchase of New York Central stock if it should be necessary. This would involve around $19 million at present prices and much more if the stock advanced as a result of the fight.

"Train X" Exhibit Near.
Mr. Young told newsmen here yesterday that Train X, which has been seen only by officials of the C. & O. and its manufacturer, the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing Co., would be shown to newspaper men within two months, probably at Chicago. However, he said he has hopes of bringing it to Washington, so members of Congress and Government officials can see it.

He has expressed hope that Train X might be installed on the New York Central and prove of great value in wiping out the Central's large deficit from passenger operations.

Cars of the new train have two wheels on only one end and are articulated with other cars by attaching them together much as trailers are attached to trucks. They are much lower to the ground than present equipment and are cushioned on rubber as automobiles.

As chairman of the federation, Mr. Young today presented awards to the "Railroad Man of the Year." Harold Neiswander of Spokane, Wash. Robert Van Sant, director of the public relations for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad received the federation's award for public relations work, and Lewis W. Britton, Washington writer for Traffic World, received its news writing award.

Membership of Shriners Reported at All-Time High

Robert Gardiner Wilson Jr., imperial potentate of North American Shriners, told members of the Almas Temple last night that the national membership of Shrine chapters is at an all-time high.

Mr. Wilson, judge of the probate court of Boston, making his official visit to the Washington temple said national membership in the 164 temples jumped from 306,000 in 1941 to 650,000 in 1951.

Earlier yesterday, he addressed a luncheon given in his honor by the Sphinx Club, also in the temple.

Wallace Beery Estate Settles Paternity Suit

By the Associated Press
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22.—Superior Court has approved a $26,750 settlement in the suit of a former movie player, Mrs. Gloria Schumann, against the estate of Wallace Beery. She claimed the screen actor was the father of her 4-year-old son Johann.

The settlement was made without the administrators of the $2,220,150 estate admitting that the actor was the child's father.

Hearing Set Next Friday on Bullock Evidence Study

Next Friday was scheduled yesterday as the date for hearing on a petition by the Commissioners for permission to inspect grand jury evidence concerning Police Inspector Albert I. Bullock in the Charles E. Nelson gambling case. The city heads want to see whether the evidence revealed dereliction of duty on the part of Inspector Bullock in his capacity as a policeman and a supervisory official of the Metropolitan Police Department.

At a hearing on the petition Monday, Judge James R. Kirkland suggested that formal papers be filed affording Inspector Bullock an opportunity to oppose the petition.

The police officer became a defendant in the gambling conspiracy case after he appeared before the grand jury, but during the trial of the 16 persons indicted, Judge Kirkland directed the petit jury to acquit Inspector Bullock.

Application for retirement of the police officer, who was granted leave, was submitted last week on his 55th birthday, the minimum retirement age. He has completed 30 years as a policeman. The application is pending.
